PREFACE

The Kenya Government recognizes the importance of Labour Market Information (LMI) in regard to employment planning, policy development and facilitation of labour mobility within the country, regional and globally. The development of a domesticated standard for classification of occupations in the country in the year 2000 – the Kenya National Occupational Classification Standard (KNOCS-2000) - was a manifestation of this resolve.

Given the dynamics in the labour market and the standard practice of periodic reviewing of Standards at the International Labour Organization (ILO) – from which this Standard is adopted – the KNOCS-2000 has been revised to the Kenya Standard Classification of Occupations (KeSCO-2022). The document presented here is the updated standard reference of occupations in Kenya and supersedes the previous version.

KeSCO-2022 is a compendium for occupational information available in the Kenyan economy. The standard gives an insight into the occupational framework: type of work performed in jobs found in establishments, industry or a country; nature of tasks performed ;body of knowledge, skills and skill level required for a job holder to effectively perform those tasks. Precisely, KeSCO -2022 standard defines, describes and assigns unique codes to all occupations, in order to classify them as they are found within the Kenya labour market and in a comparable level globally.

In this era of globalization, changing technology and business practices, shifts in the demand for our goods and services will continue to shape Kenya's labour market. This will in turn call for comprehensive, up-to-date and reliable information on the labour market. Specifically, occupational information will:

1. Facilitate collection of occupational information: sort jobs and persons into occupations to produce statistics on the occupational description of employed and unemployed persons, wages, working conditions and occupational injuries;

2. Aid assessment of the country's manpower situation, labour market information and needs: avail policy makers and administrators occupational definitions which will enable them understand, implement and monitor the effect of economic and social policies and facilitate planning of human resource development in the country;

3. Give researchers and the general public occupational classifications to enable them analyze, describe and gain knowledge on what is happening in their country;

4. Provide immigration authorities with information to facilitate decision making on issuance of work permits;

5. Assist organizations involved in job placement and other employment services to execute their mandates: enable them to sort persons and jobs to match job seekers and vacancies;

6. Facilitate cross-border occupational comparisons for effective regional integration and Labour Migration

7. Facilitate managers of enterprises/organizations to sort jobs and persons and manage wage and other personnel policies, as well as monitor working conditions;

8. Provide school-leavers and job seekers with information on various types of work, training requirements, career prospects and working conditions;

9. Provide career masters and vocational counsellors with information to appropriately advise school-leavers and job seekers on the job market;

10. Give vocational training specialists a basis for planning and designing vocational training programmes;

11. Provide a basis for international comparison and exchange of statistical and administrative data on occupations and;

12. Provide Kenyans with information on labour activities classified by occupations.

It is therefore my conviction, that KeSCO – 2022 edition and subsequent versions will go a long way in bridging observed gaps in labour market information and provide a comprehensive system for classifying and aggregating occupational information for effective human resource planning, development and utilization.

Finally, it is my earnest hope that this up-dated document, will answer the quest for information on careers and jobs in the Labour Market.

HON. FLORENCE BORE
CABINET SECRETARY, LABOUR AND SOCIAL PROTECTION

1.0 INTRODUCTION

There have been numerous changes in the international sphere, which have been captured in the ISCO – 2008 and other international standards. It was necessary to DEVELOP the coding structure of KeSCO to accommodate the changing labour market environment in the country as well as globally. Based on the analysis of the abovementioned international classifications and the factors impacting skill and labour environment in Kenya, an enhanced framework for the KeSCO was created. This framework incorporates the following:

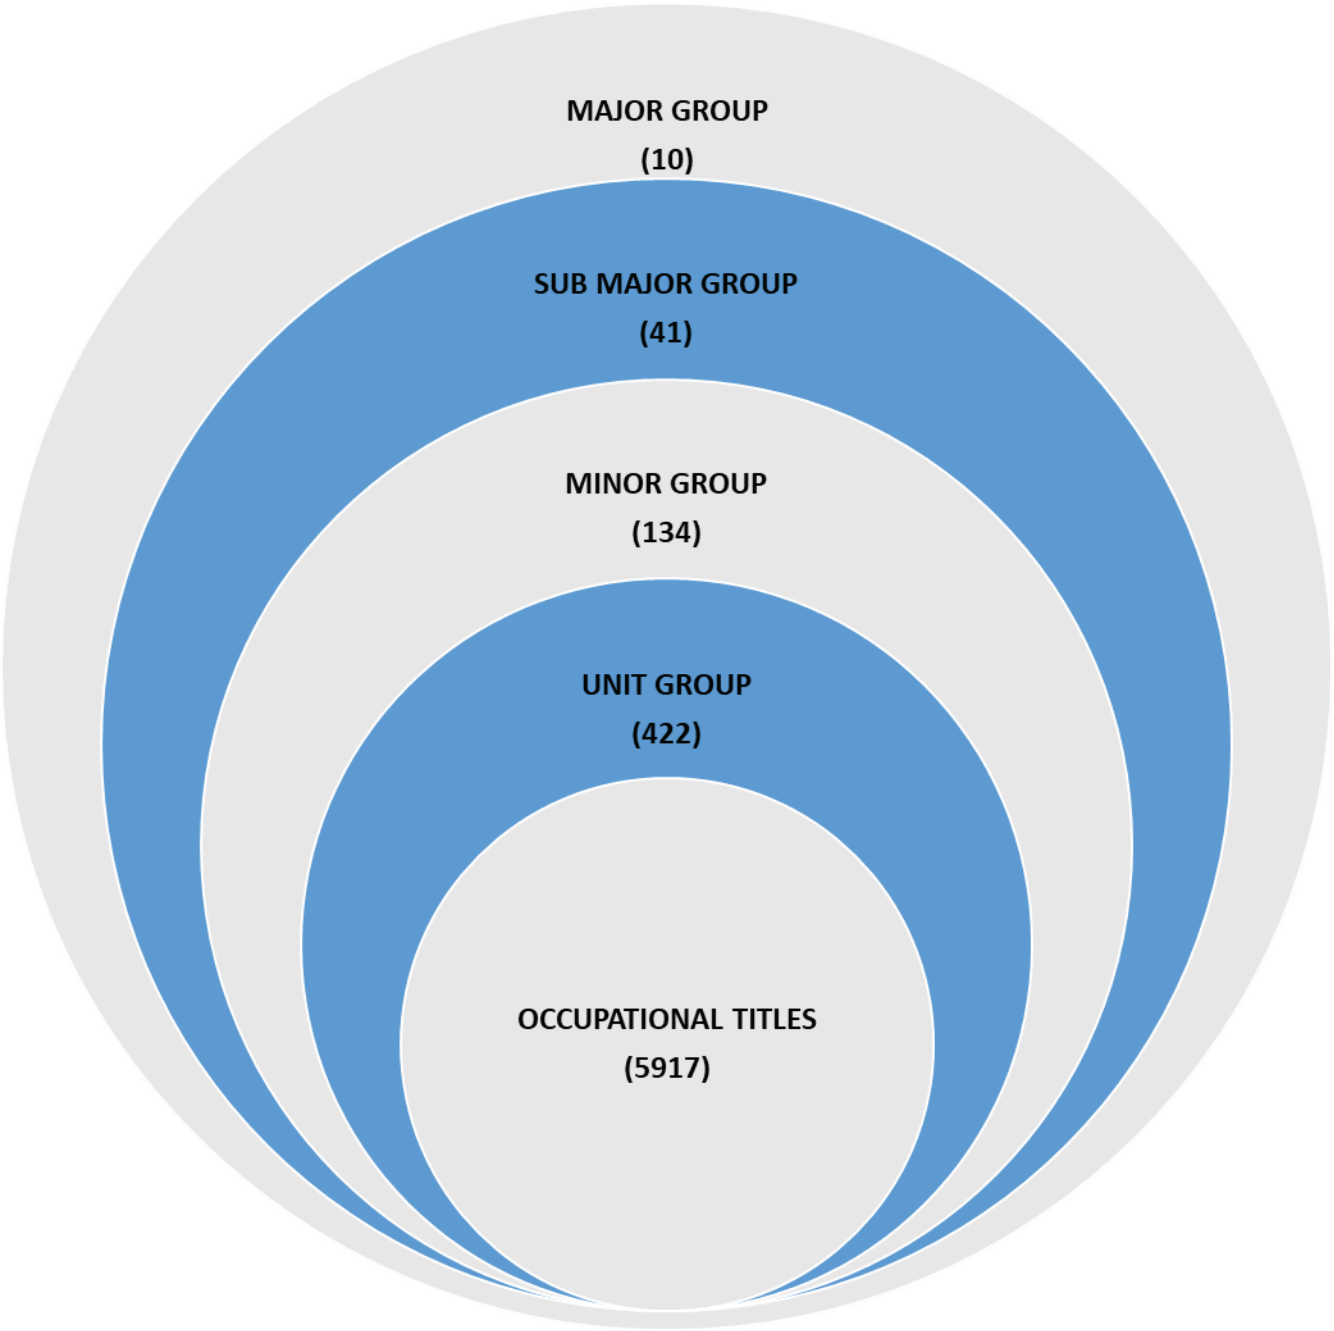

- Type of occupation
- Skill level needed for the occupation.

To accommodate the linkage to KNOCS 2000, a six-digit coding structure was suggested. This coding structure was based on the KNOCS 2000 coding structure mapped and aligned to ISCO – 2008 with the additional of 2 digits representing the occupational titles.

The coding structure of KeSCO – 2022 is as follows:

The first digit	Major Group
The first two digits	Sub-Major Group
The first three digits	Minor Group
The first four digits	Unit Group
The first two digits after the decimal	Occupational Titles
